DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 31-33 and 38-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The current claims include limitations stating that the anchor limits the balloon's expansion in comparison with the expansion in an unconstrained portion in which the anchor element is not present when the balloon changes from its contracted to its deployed state. There is insufficient support for these limitations in the Applicant's specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 31-33 and 38-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Walinsky (US Pat. No. 5,575,771) in view of Osborne et al. (US Pat. No. 5,690,642). Walinsky teaches the following of the claimed invention: a catheter/elongate delivery member (12a) having a proximal end, a distal end, and a lumen; a balloon (24) affixed to the catheter, being in fluid communication with the lumen, having contracted and deployed states, wherein the balloon assumes a predetermined, curved shape in the deployed state; and wherein, in the deployed state, the balloon is maintained in the predetermined shape, at least in part, by anchor element (40) extending along and contained within the constrained portion of the surface of the balloon and limiting expansion of the balloon in the constrained portion in comparison with expansion in an unconstrained portion in which the anchor element is not present when the balloon changes from its contracted to its deployed state (col. 6, lines 30-55). In the contracted state, the anchor element is substantially straight along the surface of the balloon (Fig. 1). Please also see Figure 7a.

Walinsky does not teach including a stent or elongate member which may be deformed by the expansion of the balloon member. Osborne et al. teaches that it well known in the art to utilize balloon catheters in the delivery of stent in columns 1 and 2 in order to deliver a contracted stent to its treatment location and expand the stent to meet the dimensions of the treatment site. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the balloon catheter of Walinsky in conjunction with a stent in order to effectively deliver the stent to the treatment site and expand the stent to the appropriate dimensions.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 31-33 and 38-44 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
